This in turn demands changes that will in every way be beneficial to the farmer and to the country at large. The writer is prompted, therefore, to write this booklet having in view such changed conditions. Until recently, the farmer has had the use of free and unoccupied land, producing free pasture in abundance and hay at cost of harvest, but present increased values have much restricted him in the use of unoccupied land. No one questions the value of nutritious, wild, prairie grass for hay or pasture, and as a pasture product we will first consider it. On the prairies in the west it is available about May 1st as a permanent pasture; about August 1st it is preserved, and when reduced by pasture use it is not again available until the following May. In other words, its use is for a period of about three or four months in twelve. It then becomes necessary to introduce a pasture that will furnish a longer period of use, or seed an additional amount of fall and winter feed. It requires, ordinarily, more acres of wild grasses than tame, to support a farm animal. A comparison of the values of tame grasses is entirely favorable to the production of Alfalfa. We personally commenced the production...
